

Abstract

The present invention's method includes the steps of: receiving a request for a gauge table in a requested format; generating the requested gauge table; converting
5 the gauge table to the requested format; and providing the converted gauge table in the requested format; The present invention's system includes means for receiving a request to provide a gauge table in a requested format coupled to means for generating a gauge table such that requests received by said means for receiving a request may be communicated to said means for generating a gauge table. The system also includes
10 means for converting the gauge table to the requested format wherein the output of the means for generating a gauge table may be transmitted to the means for converting the gauge table. Further, means for providing the converted gauge table in the requested format are coupled to the means for converting the gauge table.

15

CHI99 3804094-1.047440.0046